Picketters Protest Skeenaview Phaseout

by Donna Vallieres
Herald Staff Reporter

Picket lines formed in front of Skeenaview Lodge Monday morning at 6 a.m. in protest of the provincial government's decision to phase out the intermediate care facility.

As many as 26 picketers formed lines in the entrance to the lodge, walking with signs in 15 below weather.

Signs carried such slogans as "Skeenaview is a 'human garbage can,'" "Shelford just hot air — we want jobs", and "B.C. — Canada's Fascist growing province."

The picket was instigated by the Kitimat-Terrace and District Labour Council who formed the lines at 6 a.m. to prevent the day shift of workers from entering the building.

Night shift workers were invited to leave if they wished and would have been replaced one for one, but none of the workers asked to leave.

The strike was planned to protest the movement of patients from the lodge, which the government stated is structurally unsafe and must be replaced.

Recently the lodge had a patient capacity for 140 residents but plans to reduce this number to 115 by the end of the year.

As patients are moved, the staff at Skeenaview is reduced.

"The first few months of a 'three year phasing out program' has already meant a 23 per cent reduction in residents and a similar reduction in staff," according to a release from the labor council.

Two unions represent workers at Skeenaview, the B.C. Government Employees Union (BCGEU), and the B.C. Registered Psychiatric Nurses Association (BCRPNA).

Employees at the lodge are not consulted about changes, according to the labor council, including a rumored decision that the laundry will be moved to Kitimat, forcing a further reduction in staff.

The Social Credit government is "ripping off the blind and handicapped," the labor group charged, not only with the proposed closure of Skeenaview, but with recent closure of human resource boards, reorganization of industrial first aid training and cancellation of apprenticeship training at Northwest Community College.

The dilemma at Skeenaview was first made public in September when a former director of the Skeenaview Society resigned because of the proposed changes.

Rev. John Stokes stated at the time that the proposed new facility would cause serious hardship to residents of the lodge.

The new facility proposed by the provincial Department of Health was a 60-bed unit, probably located near Mills Memorial Hospital.

Stokes questioned the wisdom of a 60-bed unit, claiming it has always been government policy that no unit under 150 beds is economically viable.

At the time, the Department of Health defended the position of phasing out the lodge because the buildings were old and unsafe, but a March, 1976 memo from A.G. Gilmore, a director of the Department of Human Resources, stated the structural condition of the building is "good."

It was Gilmore's opinion at the time that "we can have a very effective and appropriate program in the existing facility at substantially less capital cost than could be achieved through building replacement."

It is not known when the strike will end or what effect it will have on the operation of Skeenaview Lodge.

For Skeenaview

No Immediate Closure Says Health Minister

"I would like to reiterate that the Provincial Government has no intention at the present time of closing Skeenaview Lodge at Terrace and that no reduction is planned in the regular staffing of the Lodge."

That statement was made today by Health Minister Bob McClelland in response to an illegal picket line that had been set up at Skeenaview Lodge Monday morning.

McClelland said discussions are currently underway with the Regional Hospital District and the Skeenaview Society regarding construction of a replacement facility for the existing building which is considered unsafe and incapable of being renovated.

The Health Minister said that there had been a continuing inability on the part of the Lodge to recruit nursing staff, which had necessitated the restriction of admissions and the transferring of some of the patients to Valleyview Hospital at Essondale.

According to Brad Gee, executive director of Skeenaview Lodge, pickets had effectively prevented the day shift from reporting today, with the exception of 3 or 4 employees who had arrived early.

However, Gee said, the night shift had been retained on duty and patient care was not immediately threatened.

Police Still Seeking Slayer of Ten Women

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police are combing mental-hospital records, re-reading old crime files and checking suspicious licence plates but have come up with few clues in the search for the "Hillside Strangler," believed responsible for the slayings of 10 young women in six weeks.

Patrols have been increased in areas of the city where the victims, aged 12 to 28, were last seen alive before their strangled bodies turned up in remote hilly sections. Most of the women were raped and most were found in the northern suburbs.

Five of the women were known to be involved in the seamy Hollywood street scene, and two of those were reported to have been prostitutes.

The Hillside Strangler police unit concluded that a 26-year-old man from rural Hesperia, arrested in connection with a rape and robbery in a different incident, was probably not linked to the Hillside Strangler slayings.

Investigators arrested Bennett Merrett on Friday after interviewing a woman in connection with the death of the first known strangler victim, Yolanda Washington.

The interviewed woman said she was raped and robbed. Police said Merrett was booked for investigation of those charges, and held in lieu of $20,000 bail. Investigators said Merrett resembled a Glendale police composite drawing of a man seen driving the car of another strangler victim, Lissa Kastin.

Merrett's car also was similar to one described by a witness to the apparent abduction of the last known strangler victim, Lauren Wagner.

Rifle Charge

A 36-year-old Kitimat man pleaded not guilty to three counts arising out of an incident in Kitimat where he allegedly pointed a rifle at two RCMP officers on December 2.

Gordon Rae who appeared in Terrace provincial court Monday in handcuffs, was charged with possession of a dangerous weapon and pointing it at the two policemen.

Court was told that a Kitimat RCMP corporal was standing at the front counter in the police office when Rae walked in with the rifle. He pointed the rifle at the corporal, according to the read circumstances, and stated he had come to get his son, who was in the RCMP office.

Another police officer entered the office when Rae pointed the rifle at him, stating, "bang, you're dead," court was told.

The policemen had a long talk with the accused who surrendered the rifle. A search turned up five live rounds of ammunition in Rae's pocket and two live rounds in the rifle.

Rae was "quite drunk" at the time according to defense counsel Don Brown, who asked that the accused be released from custody.

Describing the case as "emotional", Judge Selwyn Romilly said there was a temptation to incarcerate in such cases, but instead released Rae on $1,000 recognizance.

Date for trial was set for Jan. 5.

FRANKFURT (Reuters) — The U.S. dollar fell to less than 2.20 marks for the first time when it traded at 2.195 marks on the West German foreign-exchange market today, dealers said.

This compares with a closing price of 2.204 marks on Friday.

Canada Works Program "Despicably Tainted"

Jim Fulton, Federal Candidate for the New Democratic Party in Skeena, said Friday in Tleil, "That young people in Canada should certainly take notice of Liberal Defence Minister Barney Danson's proposal to pull them off the streets into the Armed Forces for a paycheque in the neighborhood of $1,000 per year."

"The Liberals are so hung up on statistics that they will stoop to any level to lower employment, regardless of repercussions as long as the price is cheap," continued Mr. Fulton, "The Liberals have sold out a good chunk of our natural, non-renewable resources and now they plan to do the same with our most valuable resource: our youth."

Lack of imagination and a low level of ability in delivering services are trademarks of the present government's youth employment programs. OFY, LIP, LEAP and now Canada Works, each program is more despicably tainted with political patronage," says Mr. Fulton, "Now, conscription for less than $100 a month! The Liberals would and may, lead us to believe that starvation and poverty are just around the corner. Let's unite and give the youth of Canada back their future; imaginative long-term employment."

Twin River Timber Hearing Continues

A polluting charge against Twin River Timber has been adjourned to April of next year because of a legal technicality.

Lawyers representing the crown and defense argued in Terrace provincial court Monday over the legality of the charge because of a missing date in the original information.

The company is alleged to have unlawfully put, or permitted to be put, slash into a stream frequented by fish. The alleged incident occurred in a tributary of the Mayo Creek, outside Terrace, during the months of March, April and May of this year.

The date was given only as June, 1977, with no day included.

New information had to be filed and served, thus the reason for the adjournment.

Another argument brought up by defense counsel Robert Gardner was the unconstitutionality of the charge.

Gardner cited several recent cases when the constitutionality of this clause of the Federal Fisheries Act was challenged in the courts on the grounds that logging is a provincial field and the federal government has no jurisdiction.

The case is currently on the level of the B.C. Court of Appeal.

Judge Selwyn Romilly would not hear evidence on the case Monday, speculating that it may be no more than "an academic exercise." However, he did note later that it could take a year or longer for the appeal to be decided upon.

Witnesses who were subpoenaed for testimony were dismissed for the day.

Although there was initially some uncertainty as to whether the case could go ahead because of the omission of the date, the original information was dismissed and new information drawn up.

The matter is adjourned to April 17 and 18.

STOP PRESS Last Minute Reprieve Granted 10 Won't Be Sent to Essondale

At approximately 4 p.m. Monday a desperate group of about 6 medical staff from the Skeenaview Lodge descended upon MLA Cyril Shelford in a last ditch effort to prevent the transfer of 10 patients from the Terrace facility for aged and handicapped to Valleyview Hospital at Essondale. The ten were scheduled to be flown out of Terrace at 9 a.m. Tuesday, December 6th.

Shelford was so impressed by the clear cut case against the pre-Christmas "exile" he immediately got B.C. Health Minister Bob McClelland on the telephone and convinced him the move was both untimely and unwise. Shortly afterwards, according to Shelford, the Health Minister issued a press release stating no fulltime staff members would be laid off, as had been suggested, and he also committed himself to fly to Terrace before Christmas to investigate the situation at first hand and meet with the administrator of the Skeenaview Lodge.

Monday night Shelford told a reporter from the Daily Herald that he will further insist the Minister meet with the staff as well as with the administrator. Shelford says he sees quite a difference between staff and administrator in their presentation of the situation.

"Some of the original patients came to Skeenaview from Essondale in 1954-23 years ago - as part of an initial 'shipment' of 70 from that institution" he said. A number of others have been here over 15 years and to them Terrace is "home".

"...and just before Christmas..." The timing would be especially unfortunate, he felt.

Shelford stated in his opinion the way to go was to carry on with Skeenaview the way it is until the new building is ready, rather than to phase it down before. He said he also wants the new facility that will be replacing the present long-condemned structure to be erected on the same site, rather than adjacent to the hospital.

The B.C. Member explained further that 15 years ago Skeenaview had 300 patients, whereas now he was told it had only 130. Despite this, there are more professional staff persons now than when there was double the present number, owing to newer medical techniques and Nurses Union demands. Among the latter is a ruling that sets the minimum percentage of RN's or professionals to non-professionals.

Skeenaview is currently short 13 R.N.s to meet union regulations. Despite expensive advertising across Canada only 3 R.N.s have been recruited. If 10 more can be found a wing, recently closed, will be reopened and approximately 27 temporary employees, now laid off, will be rehired, he said.

Smithers new intermediate care facility is scheduled to open in January. Approval for an 150 bed unit has been given for Prince Rupert. When the Terrace institution is replaced, making 3 new intermediate care "homes" there will be no longer any need to turn local citizens away, or fly them south, he concluded.

All garages in town have been kept busy with cold-weather business. While gasoline sales may have been only slightly higher, the service departments were kept on the hop with starting boosts, battery charging, and two truck calls. At some garages there was a waiting line for anti-freeze.

Meeting

Cassie Hall School will be holding a Home and School meeting at the Cassie Hall library on Wednesday, December 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Baby sitting for mothers attending the meeting will be provided for a nominal fee.

More Tales of W.W. II Horrors

DUESSELDORF, West Germany (AP) — "When a Jewish boy tried to run away from the gas chamber, she killed him with a pistol bullet in the head."

So testified a Polish woman recently against an Austrian-born former New York City homicide detective, Robert Braunsteiner Ryan, 58, one of 14 defendants in what might become the longest Nazi war-crimes trial.

Mrs. Ryan is one of five women and nine men accused of murdering the alleged mass shooting, fatal whippings, gasings, hangings and deadly injections of prisoners at the Majdanek concentration camp in Lublin, Poland, in the Second World War. At least 250,000 men, women and children—most of them Polish Jews—are reported to have died there in 1941-44.

The trial here entered its third year late last month and it is expected to take at least 18 months more before verdicts are handed down. The longest war-crimes trial to date, lasting 3½ years, ended in 1976 with a Hamburg court acquitting a former member of Hitler's elite guard, the SS, of killing prisoners in Nazi-occupied Poland.

At the Duesseeldorf trial, the white-haired Mrs. Ryan wept as the Polish woman testified about the shooting of the Jewish boy. Prosecutor Wolfgang Weber said later that her tears were the only sign of remorse shown by any of the defendants in the first two years of the trial.

So far 135 of more than 200 witnesses have testified in the proceedings, which are far behind schedule because of defence requests for postponements and the requirement that all testimony be translated into German.

TOO MANY MEMORIES
Some survivors said they suffered such trauma at the camp that they refuse to come to West Germany for the trial. The court is travelling to Poland, Israel, Canada and the United States to take testimony from them.

West German television marked the two-year anniversary of the trial's start by showing a documentary Nov. 27.

Included were color films of what was described as Majdanek's seven gas chambers, crematorium ovens, mass graves and barbed-wire enclosures. About 18,000 prisoners are alleged to have been gassed there Nov. 3, 1943.

In one of a succession of interviews with survivors, a Polish woman told West German TV that she watched as children were torn from their mothers.

CHILDREN TAKEN
"The mothers knew their children were being taken to be burned alive," she said. "The mothers stood there frozen until they fell down and started praying."

"The guards were plain sadistic," said a Polish man speaking in German. "If someone got weak and fell down, a guard would throw a board across his neck and stand on it until the inmate suffocated."

Mrs. Ryan was extradited to West Germany in 1973 after surrendering her U.S. citizenship, which she had obtained by concealing her Nazi past.

She is the first resident of the United States to be turned over to West Germany for war-crimes prosecution. The U.S. government has started deportation hearings against several other accused Nazi criminals.

Trade Minister Busy In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Donald Phillips, British Columbia's economic development minister, asked today for Japanese co-operation for the possible development of coal and pulp resources in his province.

Phillips made the request in a one-hour meeting with Minoru Masuda, vice-minister for international affairs in the international trade and industry ministry.

Phillips, accompanied by B.C. Forest Minister Thomas Waterland, also discussed with the Japanese official ways of increasing Japanese imports of coking coal, pulp and copper from British Columbia under long-term agreements. "Japan might be reluctant to increase its imports of these products now because it is in a business slump, but from the long-run point of view, Japan needs to import raw materials and Canada wants to be a stable raw material supplier to Japan," a Japanese official quoted Phillips as saying.

Phillips later met with Hisao Makita, president of Nippon Kokan K.K. (NKK). They discussed the possible development of natural resources in British Columbia, NKK officials said.

Phillips and Waterland arrived Saturday for a one-week visit to discuss ways of expanding economic relations between Japan and Canada, including Japanese capital investment in British Columbia.

Auto Sales Vary

Two of the major automakers General Motors of Canada Ltd. and Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd., reported higher car sales for November compared with the same month last year.

But Chrysler Canada Ltd. and American Motors (Canada) Ltd. sold fewer cars and trucks last month compared with November, 1976. GM also took a drop in truck sales, reporting deliveries of 13,075 for the month, 5.3 per cent below the record of November, 1976.

Ford continued its sales surge, reporting increases in both car and truck deliveries.

Ford had an 18 per cent increase in car sales, going from 13,665 in November, 1976 to 16,137 last month. Truck sales hit a record 9,412, a boost of 52 per cent over the 6,184 trucks sold in November of last year. Ford's combined car and truck sales were up 29 per cent from the same month last year.

For GM, their dealers sold 32,307 cars last month, up 1.8 per cent from the same month last year, the second highest November in the company's history.

Meanwhile, Chrysler reported car sales of 14,796 for November, compared with 16,722 in November, 1976, off 11.5 per cent.

Their truck sales hit 3,112 compared with 4,213 in November of last year. To date, Chrysler has sold 190,183 cars, off five per cent from the first 11 months of 1976.

American Motors sold 1,700 cars compared with 2,104 for November, 1976. Jeep sales fell to 587 units from the 630 sold in November last year.

More People in the News

Anita Bryant

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Anita Bryant, professing love for homosexuals, says she now is more interested in getting Bible reading and prayer back into U.S. schools.

"There is so much emphasis on that (homosexuality) when there are so many things to be concerned about—abortion, pornography, drug use, things that desperately need our attention," Miss Bryant told a news conference Sunday before appearing at the Revive America Crusade here.

"I have love in my heart for all homosexuals," she said. Miss Bryant became controversial when she led the movement that repealed a homosexual civil-rights ordinance in Dade County, Fla.

She said she plans to begin a program encouraging school prayer.

Larry Flint

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flint says he plans to return to Cincinnati this week "to sell my magazine on the streets and force them to arrest me again."

Flint is appealing his conviction in Cincinnati for pandering obscenity and conspiracy. He was sentenced to seven to 25 years in prison. His magazine also has been banned from sale in Hamilton County under obscenity laws.

Flint told a Washington, D.C., convention of the Speech Communication Association on Saturday that another Hamilton County trial would be different because a Cleveland judge earlier this fall struck down Ohio's organized-crime statute under which he was convicted.

Mrs. Korchnoi

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The wife of chess grandmaster Viktor Korchnoi, who defected to the West 17 months ago, says Russian authorities have refused permission for her and her son to emigrate.

Mrs. Korchnoi said in an interview here that she now fears their 19-year-old son will be drafted into the armed forces, which would delay any possible emigration by at least seven years.

Korchnoi, who defected in July, 1976, while on a chess tour in the Netherlands, now leads 3½-1½ in the world chess semifinals in Belgrade against Boris Spassky, another Soviet grandmaster.

Mrs. Korchnoi said she still hopes to emigrate and join her husband, who now lives in the Netherlands.

Paul Solon

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — Paul Solon's century-old clock is ticking off his neighborhood and the village fathers.

He wants to put the 4½-metre (15-foot) 1,500-pound street clock in the front yard of his home, which sits among dwellings in the $95,000 to $115,000 range.

But some neighbors complained, arguing that curious people might start driving by, invading the peace and lowering property values, and that the clock with two faces would just seem out of place. And what if it fell on a child? they asked.

Solon, 33, a clock collector, is threatening to go to court after making little headway since June with the zoning and village boards in this suburb northwest of Chicago.

"As it stands now, I've been charged $200 in hearing fees," said Solon, who values the clock, with its cast iron base, at $10,000. "It boils down to a zoning board meeting next month to decide if I can have a commercial variance for two square feet in my front yard for a base to put the clock on."

"It seems other suburbanites can put up basketball hoops for their kids, bird baths and statues, Santa Claus and his reindeer, but I can't put up my clock."

Solon said he had been looking for a street clock for seven years and finally ran across one in Gates Mill, Ohio. He trucked it home and spent a year and $5,000 having it restored.

"The clock doesn't chime and isn't lit," Solon said. "It's accurate to within one minute a month. I even painted it a brown tone to blend in with the color scheme of my home. A street clock is just something I've always wanted in front of my house."

Jon McDermott

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — A Canadian who has taught in Australia for the last four years will face an extradition hearing here next Monday on a charge of escaping custody, a Sydney magistrate decided today.

Jon Donald McDermott, 31, is alleged to have committed seven armed robberies in Canada and to have escaped from custody at Victoria, B.C.

Magistrate G.H. McLennan set the hearing date today after the federal attorney-general gave his approval Sunday night for the hearing to take place.

McDermott, who has taught under the name James Crown at various Sydney schools, was ordered held in jail until next Monday.

Sharon McNerney

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — "I still loved him, right up until I shot him," says the second Michigan woman to go free in recent weeks after killing a husband or former husband who beat her.

Sharon McNerney, acquitted of second-degree murder last week in the Feb. 12 slaying of her husband, George, described him in an interview as a man with a tough-guy reputation that he couldn't—or wouldn't—shake.

"He hated life, hated the heaviness of it," she said. "He would have been completely happy living in the mountains by himself without the frustrations of bills and jobs and people."

A Marquette County circuit court judge said the state failed to prove that Mrs. McNerney, 42, was not acting in self-defence. She has returned to work as a secretary.

Last month, Francine Hughes of Lansing was found innocent by reason of insanity in the arson death of her former husband who, she testified, beat her during their marriage and continued to do so after their divorce. Mrs. Hughes has been found mentally competent and was freed from custody.

BEATINGS STARTED
Mrs. McNerney said her husband, 45 when he died, started beating her when she was 16 and engaged to him.

"He apologized and cried and said he'd never do it again. I forgave him because I believed him," she said in the interview with the Detroit Free Press.

But the beatings became more brutal and more frequent—an average of one a month. Sometimes, she said, McNerney would go for one of their three children and "I'd intervene and get the brunt of it."

On the day she shot him, she said, McNerney slapped her around and warned her, "OK, you bitch. This time you won't be able to tell the cops because I'm going to kill you."

Mrs. McNerney said she thought he meant it. She got a shotgun from their bedroom and fired twice. Then she went to police and confessed.

New York Stocks Quiet At Start of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Present and possible future takeover candidates came in for most of the action Monday as the stock market posted a moderate overall loss in quiet trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which fell 20.44 points last week, dipped 2.95 more to 821.03.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was down 0.22 at 52.12 and NYSE volume totalled only 19.16 million shares compared with 21.16 million Friday.

What stocks did Mon. Fri.
Advanced 591777
Declined 853640
Unchanged 466475
Total 1,910,892
J. Ray McDermott jumped 6% to $56½.

The company said Friday that United Technologies had expressed an interest in acquiring it. United said it had made no specific plans.

for an offer for McDermott, but added that it "continues to evaluate all possible acquisitions."

McDermott and United recently were competitive bidders for another company, Babcock and Wilcox. McDermott wound up with a chunk of Babcock and has recently been negotiating to acquire the rest.

United's shares rose ¾ to $36½ Monday. Babcock slipped ½ to $57½.

RECEIVE OFFERS
Meanwhile, Servomation climbed 1¼ to $26¾ on word from the company that some of its holders had received offers for their stock.

Sycor, subject of a merger agreement in principle with Northern Telecom, jumped 3¾ to $19¼, while Northern Telecom lost ¼ to $25½.

Otherwise, analysts said it was difficult to get a clear picture of over-all market sentiment in the midst of year-end tax manoeuvring by investors. They said tax selling had been particularly evident in blue chip issues such as those in the Dow average, which have ranked among the market's poorest performers this year.

British Petroleum led the active list, off ¼ at $15¼. Blocks of 800,000 and 233,600 shares traded at that price.

U.S. Industries fell ½ to $7¾. The company said it would buy 2.6 million of the about seven million shares it received under an offer to repurchase some of its own stock.

Among Canadian issues on the NYSE, Bell Canada was up ½ at $81, McIntyre up ½ at $23 and Dome Mines up ¼ at $60½.

Campbell Red Lake was down ¾ at $3¼.

5 Day NFU Convention

By ALLAN BARTLEY SASKATOON (CP) — The president of the National Farmers Union said Monday that Canada's agriculture policy has consistently opposed the interests of the farm community.

Roy Atkinson, speaking at the opening sessions of the NFU's five-day convention, said the rural community is in decline, farmers are losing their battle to maintain a decent income and there is increasing concentration of agricultural resources.

"It angers me to say this process seems to be perfectly in tune with the philosophy of the federal government," he told 350 delegates.

Earlier, the NFU released a report prepared by one of its committees that called for a federal royal commission inquiry into land use.

Atkinson, outspoken leader of the 8,000-member union since its creation, said farmers are demanding a better organized, orderly and well-planned market economy.

His speech, which received a standing ovation, stressed the NFU's policy of an orderly marketing system for agriculture products.

Programs had been introduced in the last few years that encouraged an agricultural production system which produced food for profit "while greater depopulation of rural areas and a growing landed gentry take hold," he said.

SEES DOUBLE

Atkinson said the "free market elite" is prepared to reduce or eliminate competition and accept government interference in the economy when such involvement increases corporate profits—a form of double standard.

He cited $11 billion in deferred unpaid corporate income taxes, income tax reductions to farmers which have benefited machinery companies, government-supported farm loans and elimination of competition between CP Rail and Canadian National Railways.

"It seems damn clear to me that the so-called free market economy does not exist in the corporate sector."

Atkinson said a national meat authority, advocated by the NFU, is a solution to the problems of livestock producers.

"We must not be content to accept half-baked solutions that seem to always end up leaving us in more trouble than we started with," he warned. "There are those who are content to settle for less."

ALLEGED BLACKLIST

Atkinson said the NFU's opposition to government policies has apparently led to it being included on an alleged RCMP blacklist.

"We're going to go to the royal commission on the RCMP and ask to see the files on our organization, if indeed there are files, and we're going to ask that this surveillance be stopped."

Departing from a prepared text, Atkinson said he was beginning to understand how fascism had developed in Italy and Germany. He said that unless the population understands issues "it's easy."

"People must understand the implications of a police state. You can't have freedom by destroying it."

The reference to the RCMP was the only segment of the speech to provoke questions from the audience. Atkinson said in response that no matter how fine police are as individuals, they must obey orders from people in power.

EARTHQUAKE

In an average year, the world can expect at least one "great" earthquake registering a magnitude of eight or more on the Richter scale.

Barrett challenges commission study

VICTORIA (CP) — Opposition leader Dave Barrett agitated the royal commission studying the British Columbia Railway to subpoena past and present board members Monday after he delivered his written submission to the inquiry in Vancouver.

The NDP leader and former premier told a news conference here that the inquiry should compel himself and former premier W. A. C. Bennett to testify, or run the risk of having its findings placed in doubt.

"If the royal commission is to be credible, it had better call us all," said Barrett.

"I've nothing to hide... Have they got the guts or haven't they? That's really where it's at."

Barrett made the comments after being informed that Mr. Justice Lloyd Mackenzie, commission head, had branded his written testimony to the inquiry as "political and a bit silly."

Mackenzie made the comment after receiving the 20-page submission, which said that the crown-owned railway's Dease Lake extension in northeastern B.C. should not be abandoned.

POLITICAL PURPOSE "The commission was set up for political purposes in the first place," said Barrett, "and I can't accept the argument that politicians shouldn't be called because it's the politicians who ultimately will make the decision on the railroad."

Barrett said negotiations should begin immediately with the Yukon Territory, the United States and Alaska for the building of a rail link between B.C. and Alaska.

He also revealed the existence of a confidential report prepared for him about the feasibility of a merger of BCR and Canadian National Railways.

Barrett said the report, submitted to him on July 10, 1975, recommended that the two lines not merge. He said it was still his opinion that there be no merger.

Asked why the report had been requested, he said: "That's the kind of suggestion that came through the bureaucracy."

USED FOR POLICY He said he had not revealed the existence of the report before because it was a policy study, rather than a fiscal report.

"While I have no idea why this report has been withheld from the commission, perhaps there is other information which also has been withheld from the commission, such as correspondence on the MEL Paving case related to the decision to settle out of court," Barrett said in his submission.

The BCR settled out-of-court with MEL for $2.5 million in December 1976 after the Alberta-based company had alleged civil fraud in the tendering of earth-moving contracts for the Dease Lake extension.

"The current government implicitly admitted the allegation of fraud was valid by settling the issue out of court after the trial was over and before a verdict could be rendered," Barrett said in his brief.

His submission detailed the BCR studies carried out by his former NDP administration, studies which showed, he said, gross mismanagement of the railway's affairs by the W. A. C. Bennett Social Credit administration which got the BCR under way.

He said that, as well, the current Social Credit administration led by Premier Bill Bennett has continued the "extremely unproductive and extravagantly expensive" Dease Lake project without adequate studies.

Halifax to get new $35 M pier

Transport Minister Otto Lang announced that a $35.6 million pier to be financed partly by the federal government and partly by the Nova Scotia government will be built in Halifax.

Revenue Minister Joseph Guay said confidential tax information that was eluded to on a radio program recently came from offices in Vancouver, Montreal and Ottawa. He said the RCMP has been investigating James David Little who was quoted in the Globe and Mail Saturday as saying he obtained the information.

Alastair Gillespie, energy minister, said all miners facing layoffs in Sudbury, Ont., can get work elsewhere.

Oddities

EVANSDALE, Iowa (AP) — The Evansdale Police Department wrote too many traffic tickets, Mayor Ron Nichols complained. So he and city council told police last week to shut down their radar unit.

"It may be for another day or until the end of the year—it just depends," said Nichols. "If drivers start ripping up the streets, we'll put the radar back on."

The mayor said the action was taken because people complained they were being harassed by policemen. "They say they won't drive in Evansdale anymore," he said.

Nichols was defeated Nov. 8 in a bid for reelection by former police chief Robert Aldrich.

NEW YORK (AP) — If the pages of old comic books look yellow to you, look again. They're pure gold.

Consider this item for instance: a 1931 Action No. 1—the first issue in which Superman, the superstar of comic books, appeared. It's worth about $3,500, according to Gary Berman.

Berman, 21, is an organizer of the three-day Popular Culture and Comic Convention at the Statler-Hilton Hotel this weekend.

Some 160 people will be offering rare editions for sale there during the weekend. About 4,000 people are expected to thumb through the thousands of plastic-wrapped, catalogued books this weekend.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus residents who are blind will be able to "hear" books via television starting Thursday.

The experimental system called "Telebook" will be possible because of special cable television and FM radio hookups.

Blind adults and children will be able to call the Telebook Centre 24 hours a day and request that a book be played for them. They will be told what new titles are available and even will be able to hear the first few pages of unfamiliar books.

"Telebook readers will have an equivalent to browsing the local library's paperback book rack," said Ken Stetten, a physicist at MITRE Corp. in McLean, Va., one of the sponsors of the project.

Others sponsoring the project include the Library of Congress and the Columbus Library.

Participants will have a choice of 600 readings from the Library of Congress' current Talking Book list.

Egypt breaks with 5 Arab countries

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt broke diplomatic relations Monday with the five Arab countries that met in Libya to plan a "resistance" front against President Anwar Sadat's peace initiative with Israel.

The five named by Egypt's Middle East news agency are Syria, Libya, Algeria, Iraq and South Yemen.

Egypt's move produced the most serious political division in the Arab world in years.

All except Iraq agreed early Monday to form "resistance and confrontation front" to oppose Egypt's overtures to Israel and denounced Sadat's one-man peace campaign as "high treason." But Iraq, still feuding with Syria, walked out of the conference without signing the communique and accused Syria of "capitulatory solutions."

The initial report by the Egyptian news agency listed only Syria, Algeria, Libya and South Yemen as the countries with which Egypt severed relations. That led to speculation Egypt was retaliating only against those countries that signed the conference declaration. The agency later made an official correction, adding Iraq to the list.

DIPLOMATS TOLD TO GO

The agency said diplomats of the five countries were summoned to the Egyptian foreign ministry and told to be out of Egypt within 24 hours. It said Egyptian envoys in those countries were instructed to return home immediately.

The hard-line Arab countries and the Palestine Liberation Organization ended their five-day conference in Tripoli, Libya, early Monday with the declaration that they will "freeze" their diplomatic and political relations with Cairo. Libya had unilaterally severed relations with Egypt when Sadat made his visit to Jerusalem Nov. 19-21.

However, the anti-Egypt summit, at Syria's insistence, had carefully kept the door open for renewed Geneva peace talks or other forms of negotiations with Israel, with or without Sadat.

The "hard-liners" also had stopped short of declaring an irreparable break with Egypt.

Sadat said Sunday that the Soviet Union was behind the "rubbish" of the Tripoli summit and that Egypt might "punish" the Russians.

NO SIGN OF BREAK

During the weekend, it was reported that Egypt

was recalling its ambassador to Moscow, but there was no immediate indication that Sadat is considering severing his already cool diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union.

The United States appeared Monday to be trying to reclaim the initiative as a mediator in the Middle East. U.S. officials in Washington said State Secretary Cyrus Vance will visit Egypt, Israel, Jordan, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia beginning this weekend to assess prospects for a comprehensive settlement.

In related developments Monday:

—The official Soviet media stepped up Moscow's attack on Sadat, accusing him of secretly striving for a "separate deal with imperialism and Zionism behind the back of the Arab peoples."

—Ugandan President Idi Amin left his country for a visit to Libya, where he said he would discuss the Middle East situation with Libyan leaders. Amin has had close ties with Libya for several years.

House speaker rules on Supreme court judgement

OTTAWA (CP) — Commons Speaker James Jerome ruled Monday that a much-discussed Ontario Supreme Court judgment does not interfere with the rights of MPs or the press.

In a ruling that former prime minister John Diefenbaker called "Solomonesque," Jerome rejected concerns about the recent judgment of Chief Justice Gregory Evans on an international uranium cartel.

PROGRESSIVE Conservatives had said the judgment might curtail the rights of the press to report the activities of MPs.

Jerome said: "The judgment does not alter in any way the rights, privileges and powers possessed by MPs or as exercised in their relationship with the press in respect to proceedings within the Commons."

—Nothing alters existing privileges and relationships in respect to activities of MPs outside of Parliament.

—The judgment dealt

in the abstract and does not make an addition to the law of the land.

—The House is the master of its own practices and will exercise its own judgment if there is a concrete case of alleged breach of privileges.

Evans had been asked by six Conservative MPs to make a ruling on a cabinet order which limited the rights of persons to give information on an international uranium cartel.

ALTERED ORDER Before he rendered the judgment, the government had revised the order somewhat.

But Evans said there is no question about MPs's rights to debate inside the Commons; however, reporters did not have the right to pass the information outside Parliament.

The opposition said that affects the privileges of the Commons. The government disagreed, saying all privileges are intact and protected.

Jerome said it is important to note that the justice was talking of proceedings outside Parliament, not inside.

Justice Evans had made clear that there was no restriction on the right of MPs to participate in debate in the chamber or for the press to report them.

"The question arises as to whether or not there is an absolute privilege when members go beyond this chamber and take information which comes into their possession and hand it to the media."

RISKFOR PRESS "Is there a risk in the media... In some circumstances there is... Is the privilege finite... Yes, in some circumstances it is."

He noted that MPs of the justice committee recently met in private to discuss security matters with the RCMP—accepting restrictions on what they could communicate to the press and their constituents.

At the same time recently, MPs had twice said their privileges were affected because reports on such things as immigration had been given to the press.

News Briefs

GUETERSLOH, West Germany (Reuters) — Two drivers lay badly injured in a hospital Monday after their heads collided while they were craning out of their cars during thick fog, police said.

The literal head-on collision on a country lane left both cars unscratched, police said.

MADISON, N.J. (AP) — What's in a name? Or an eyebrow, for that matter? It's serious business for Drew University sociologist Sidney Greenblatt.

The 39-year-old professor spent the summer studying the effects of 2,000 years of Chinese lore on such activities as palmistry and face-reading.

He visited Hong Kong fortune tellers, who, among other techniques, place a lot of stock in the position of a person's eyebrows. Each of 42 eyebrow positions are said to give a fortune teller insight into his subject.

"The first position looks like the Chinese character for the numeral one," Greenblatt said in an interview. "It indicates the subject should be a statesman. It's also the shape of eyebrow Chou En-lai had."

New P.Q. publishing venture

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — Quebec tabloid king Pierre Peladeau became an international publisher today with the publication of the first edition of the Philadelphia Journal.

A press run of about 200,000 copies of the sports-heavy tabloid got under way at 3 a.m. EST after a hectic day of a last-minute planning.

The Journal, fourth newspaper in Philadelphia and one of only a few to begin publication in the U.S. in recent years, devoted half of its 64-page first edition to sports.

An attention-grabbing banner front-page headline—"Fire Bombings Terrorize South Philadelphia Neighborhood"—came out as the top news story, printed on pages 2 and 3.

Peladeau, head of the Montreal-based Quebecor Inc., invested "more than $1 million" in the newspaper and said he was pleased by the result.

The newspaper, which also featured the first of a series of daily pin-up girls, was about two hours late coming off the presses.

But newspaper officials, noting that office telephones were still being hooked up and carpenters hammering drowned out conversation in the office Sunday, said they were satisfied with the timing.

Patterned after Peladeau's successful Journal de Montreal, the new tabloid employs 23 news reporters and editors, 22 sports writers, five photographers and five entertainment writers. Most of the staff is young and relatively inexperienced and all but two are Americans.

The newspaper costs 25 cents, 10 cents more than other Philadelphia papers.

Mac-Blo seeks damages

VANCOUVER (CP) — MacMillan Bloedel filed affidavits Monday, seeking damages from the company's former log-trading manager and from two other log companies.

MacMillan Bloedel alleges that former log trader Dennis Binstead accepted gifts and secret commissions from customers.

It also names Andersen MacKinnon Log Sales and Andersen MacKinnon Log Brokerage, and alleges that the three defendants conspired to cheat and defraud MacMillan Bloedel.

Both companies purchased logs from MacMillan Bloedel for resale to other firms.

MacMillan Bloedel is asking the court to order Binstead to make up for all sums or benefits that he received.

Vandalism And Organized Crime

Many - perhaps most of us, when we think of crime think, first of all of Mafia-type organized crime as being the major threat to Canadian society.

Meanwhile, however,
an ominous trend in crime has developed that has grown - and continues to grow - beneath our very noses that poses
much more of a threat to the average Canadian - juvenile crime.

The dollars and cents damage and costs to the citizenry is no longer penny-ante stuff. It is not only running into millions of dollars a year; nor
"just" tens of millions of dollars - it has reached proportions approaching
the HUNDREDS of millions of dollars per year in Canada, alone.

To the South - in the United States - statistics place it now in the BILLIONS of dollars annually the cost to the public caused by vandalism, theft, muggings,
beatings, murders, drug trafficking, automobile
and other vehicular accidents and thefts of vehicles from snowmobiles to airplanes.

We in Terrace are in no way exempt from this sinister growth; this creeping upsurge in senseless vandalism and juvenile-caused crime. It is not only happening to
"those guys down the street"; it is happening right now, to our neighbour, and the young - but nonetheless devastating - offenders are even now looking in our windows
"casing the joint" - as well as checking out our cars and our lifestyle.

What is needed is NOT
"another commission".

We need organization for action of a responsible intelligent sort at the local level.

In the coming days we shall attempt to carry a series of editorials in which positive, remedial approaches will be looked at.

We ask our readers to send in their comments to us at the Daily Herald office so that we can assess local interest and reader reaction. We need to know how the community of Terrace feels on the subject of vandalism and juvenile crime. If there is local apathy there will be little
we can do effectively, towards a solution. If there is public response
of an affirmative nature,
the exercise could prove worthwhile.

We need to hear from the parents - as well as the "juveniles"; the churches as well as the schools (in Prince Rupert last month the Roman Catholic Church was brutally desecrated;
human filth was spread throughout and the tabernacle and chalice
removed and smashed beyond repair. The Anglican cathedral was twice vandalized the same month. At Port Edward most of the school windows had to be replaced with plywood
until new glass could be shipped in to replace broken panes).

We also would like to hear the views of the businessmen, police,
social workers, doctors,
psychologists, teachers
and public health officials
- all whose jobs and professions require them to mix and move and work with those who vandalize.

Unusual News

BALTIMORE (AP) —
Two bandits got $33 and more than they bargained for when they invaded a West
Baltimore home.

The bandits handcuffed Richard English, 24, and his brother Leroy, 25, together after breaking
into the house.

When the robbers
demanded money, the two brothers suggested that one of them search
the house with 13-year-old Denise Powell, the English brothers' half-sister.

While Denise was upstairs with one robber,
the handcuffed pair
"charged" the other robber, and shoved him
through a first-floor window.

At the same time, Denise pushed the surprised second robber off a second-storey porch.

The bandits fled as a neighbor appeared on the scene, and police have not found them.

LAKEMORE, Ohio
(AP) — William (Grandpa) Goddard,
who, at age 81, has outlived two wives, is looking for another. And this time he's going to Mexico.

"I guess I'll advertise
in some Mexican papers for a wife," said Goddard. "That way I'll get a better choice."

His daughter, Elinor McCardle, and a waitress
at a restaurant he frequents, are going to teach him enough Spanish to get along in Mexico.

What's the age limit for a potential bride?

"Well, let's say 18 to 80," he said. "You better make that 21 instead of 18. I don't want people to think I'd rob the cradle. I don't want to leave anybody out."

"The only thing is the older they are, the richer
they have to be."

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Milton Facen was scheduled to be tried this week for allegedly killing a man over a game of craps. But he won't be in court. He was shot to death in another dice game.

Facen, 51, had been charged with the July 29
slaying of James Dukes.
The two men argued over a dice game in a Miami bar, and police said Facen shot Dukes as he walked across the bar's parking lot.

Facen was charged
with first-degree murder
and was freed on bail.

Homicide Detective
Louis Vasquez said
Facen was shooting dice
again Saturday, this time in front of his house. Also playing were an unidentified man and Anthony McCloud, 19.

Facen and McCloud
apparently argued, and McCloud left only to return and shoot Facen in the back, Vasquez said.

McCloud was charged
with first-degree murder
after Facen died Sunday
at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

OFFICIAL MUR- DERED

LONDON (Reuter) —
An Ethiopian trade union official was assassinated in the Ethiopian capital Saturday, Addis Ababa
radio reported Sunday.
The radio, monitored
here, said Kebede Gebre Mikael, chief treasurer of the All-Ethiopian trade union, was killed by "anti-popular" forces on the way home from his office.

PLANT EXPLODES
NEW DELHI (Reuter) — Twenty persons suffered minor burns when a factory which produces heavy water for nuclear power plants exploded Saturday night in the Indian town of Baroda,
the Samachar news
agency said Sunday.

SMOKE IN PEACE JERUSALEM

(Reuter) — Israeli government ministers
puffed contentedly at their pipes and cigarettes
at Sunday's weekly cabinet meeting, taking advantage of the absence of Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who does not allow smoking.

FAMED SCIENTIST DIES

MOSCOW (Reuter) —
One of the Soviet Union's leading scientists, Dr.
Ilya Vekua, known for his research in mathematical physics, has died after a long illness. He was 70. In 1964, Vekua, who died Friday, was awarded the Lenin prize, the Soviet Union's highest mark of distinction for scientists.

BIRD SAVES LIVES

URAWA, Japan
(Reuter) — A noisy
mynah bird gave the alarm and saved his owner and 18 other persons when fire destroyed two wooden houses here Sunday,
police said.

DEVALUE PESO

SANTIAGO (Reuter) —
The Chilean government has devalued its currency
by 4.3 per cent compared with the U.S. dollar. It fixed a new exchange rate of 27.39 pesos a dollar Saturday. The previous rate was 26.23.

OARSMAN DIES

LONDON (AP) — Jack Beresford, 78, Britain's best-ever racing oarsman, died Saturday at his home, his family said.
He competed in five Olympics between 1920
and 1936, winning three gold and two silver medals in single and double sculls, fours and eights.
He won the coveted
diamond scull at Henley Royal Regatta four times and was a record seven-time winner of the amateur sculling championship of the Thames.

DISPUTES NUMBERS

ROME (Reuter) —
When Christopher Columbus set sail on his voyage of discovery to the New World in 1492 he went with four—not three—ships, Italian historian Marinella Bonvini Mazzanti said Sunday. She said a letter from the ambassador of Naples to the Spanish
court dated March 9, 1493, states a certain Columbus just returned from the "Indies" with four vessels.

Censored

KITCHENER, Ont.
(CP) — Mailing room
employees at The Record
used black felt pens to cover the lower portion of a scantily-clad woman whose picture appeared in the Weekend magazine supplement.

K.A. Baird, publisher of The Record, said the blackening of the picture
in 70,000 copies of the weekend supplement was done because "in our view the picture would have been unacceptable
to a significant number of our readers."

Last week, employers
at Hamilton Spectator and Brantford Expositor
used black felt pens to remove the word bugger
in a comic strip. About 200,000 copies were altered at the two papers.

"Better stock up on 12-cent stamps before the price goes up."

Voice of the readers

Dear Sir:

Some claim ours is a sick society.

Many of us are sick of having policemen
ridiculed and called 'pigs'
while copkillers are thought of as folk heroes.

We are sick of hearing
the following things -
- Religion is the opiate
of the people but marijuana should be legalized!

- Pornography is the right of the free press, but this freedom doesn't include religious freedom.

Commentators,
columnists,
revolutionaries and
criminal rapists etc, condemn law enforcement, where certain criminals are brought to justice.

More and more taxes
are paid to build schools,
but some faculty members encourage students to riot, etc.

Criminals are turned loose on society, and some laws take away our means of protecting homes and families.

Policemen are mad
dogs who should NOT have guns, but criminals with such weapons, who kill, maim etc should be understood and helped back to society.

It is wrong to use
napalm to end wars, BUT a molotov cocktail or bomb at home, why they're O.K., when one is provoked. Families cannot go to movies
unless they wish to be exposed to nudity,
homosexuality, and the glorification of narcotics.

Drug Breakthrough

CHICAGO (AP) — Medical science may be on the verge of a major breakthrough in developing a new class of drugs to cure virus diseases for which there currently is no treatment,
says the Journal of the American Medical Association.

An editorial by the Journal's editor, Dr.
William Barclay, says
the drugs may have as great an impact as penicillin
and other antibiotics did in stopping bacterial infection a generation ago.

Dr. Barclay says two antiviral drugs show great promise, amantadine hydrochloride for the treatment of influenza and vidarabine
for the treatment of herpes simplex infections, which cause
skin blisters.

Pot taking entertainers deluge us with their condemnations of our moral standards on late night T.V.

Riots, marches,
protests, demonstrations,
confrontations belong to people who are intellectually incapable of working within our system.

The same phrases,
sick slogans are chanted
by people, who haven't the capacity of verbal-izing thought.

The reading also of so-called modern literature, is like the writing on the walls of public toilets and also sickens many of us.

Some also say we owe them this and that - I refer to our native people.
Some are cynical as regards patriotism - but we are sick of politicians
with no backbone.

We are also sic of permissiveness, the dirty, the foul mouthed and the unwashed. We are sick of the decline of personal honesty, personal integrity and human sincerity.

Most of all, though we're sick of being told we're sick. Yes, some of us, who are straight may seem sick, but we are the kind who can help our society get well, and also our country.

You will not find certain of us, throwing rocks
or bombs under placards,
taking to the streets,
ranting to wild-eyed mobs, BUT you will find us at work, paying taxes,
serving in the community where we live. We are also to be found,
expressing our anger and indignation to elected officials. You will find us, speaking in support of those officials, institutions and personalities who help to elevate society, and not to destroy it. You will find us giving our time,

money and personal influences to helping

churches, hospitals, charities, and other similar establishments,
which help to ease pain,
and suffering and eliminate hunger and generate brotherhood.
But, most of all, you'll find us at the polling place. There, you can hear the thunder of the common man. There, we can all cast our vote for a country where children will be educated and not indoctrinated - for a country of brotherhood

and understanding - for a country that puts its trust in God.

"Public Minded"

OTTAWA OFFBEAT

Ottawa, — It may be only a strange and isolated incident — or it may be the shape of things to come — but English-French
friction along the Quebec-Ontario border
in the National Capital Region has reached the stage of naked
hostility.

An English-speaking trooper, Bert Reed, 17,
of Eighth Canadian Hussars Armored Brigade, posted at Armed Forces Base
Petawawa, 10 miles from the Quebec border and 200 from Montreal, has been savagely beaten by 10
French-speaking toughs in a bar in Gatineau, Quebec, a mill town across the Ottawa River from the National Capital.

So brutally was he savaged when they put the boots to him that he suffered a skull
fracture, may lose an eye, and sustained groin injuries
requiring surgery.

In retaliation, a flying squad of 24
troopers from Petawawa rolled into Gatineau and
"bombed" with
"thunderflashes" —
simulated heavy impact field explosives
— a house where the leader of the gang of toughs lived.

There were no injuries and little damage.

But a "mini-war"
was on between the Petawawa English-speaking troopers and the French-speaking Gatineau gang.

It is still raging in the courts, military and civil, and there is a slow-burn of racial rage smouldering
along this section of the Ontario-Quebec
border.

The threatened separation of Quebec
from the other nine provinces and two territories which would cut Canada in two is stoking up the heat.

Trooper Reed, who lives in Gatineau, was on weekend leave from Petawawa and told Quebec police he was in the bar when he was clouted on the head by a flying ashtray, then attacked by the 10
toughs.

Police confirmed that it was a gang
assault without mercy.

Under their pounding and kicking, he told police he heard them shouting
"Maudit Anglais!" (bloody English) as he passed out.

Friends were forced to pay $56 before an ambulance would take him to hospital.

Police arrested four of the 10 toughs who, if convicted of a variety of assault charges,
could do up to five years in jail.

While one squad of police was arresting
the four attackers in the bar, another squad
raided trooper Reed's home where, reported his mother, they "tore the place apart," confiscating two hunting rifles and her barber's scissors.

Since then, she says,
she has complained to police about groups of young toughs hanging around her home
nights, swinging bicycle chains.

Quebec police, she reports now, have done nothing except press civilian charges against the 24
Petawawa troops who
"thunderflashed" the gang's hangout.

And this despite action taken by military authorities at Petawawa against the troopers, involving fines of up to $300, detention for up to eight days in barracks,
and demotions.

Quebec Police Inspector Yves Prejent says this is not penalty enough, so is pursuing further charges in Ontario.

Both police and troopers agree that on the "night of the thunderflashing," the soldiers phoned and warned they would be raiding the hang hangout.

The troopers claim
the police laughed and
"said we'd be doing them a favor by roughing up the gang which had been giving them and the town a lot of trouble."

But police insist that when the troopers
called with their raid warning, they were told to keep out of town.

The atmosphere in the National Capital on both sides of the Ontario-Quebec border
has become pretty tense since the "mini-war."

A few Ontario cars
are being run off Quebec roads or damaged in parking lots; and some Quebec cars are getting retaliatory treatment
on the Ontario side of the border.

The danger of the situation is heightened
by the fact that if there is need to call out the troops in the crisis of threatened Quebec separation, the Air borne Regiment, flown
in recently from Edmonton, Alberta, to Petawawa, would be used. Border blood is up and it is bad

In addition to competitions between present day stars, Showdown '78 will feature a challenge between stars of the 1957-58 and 1958-59 seasons. The competitors are (l. to r.) Andy Bathgate, Rocket Richard, Johnny Bower, Gump Worsley, Dickie Moore, and George Armstrong.

Terrace Midgets win

Midget Minor Hockey was at its best Saturday night when Terrace's Moose Lodge Midget Minors drove to Kitimat to play an Exhibition game against the Kitimat Parker Pintos.

Terrace's top scorer with 4 goals was Douglas Middleton, followed by Nash Aguirre with 2 goals.

Singles were scored by Charlie Baird and Glen Bennett who also made one assist. Three assists were racked up by Roy Kedder, for Terrace, two by Mark Ljungh, one by Steven Schultz and one by Ken Weidman.

Terrace ended the game with 3 penalties versus 8 penalties earned by Kitimat.

Kitimat's score leader was B. Whitely with 3 goals and 2 assists, followed by E. Seeman with 1 goal and 3 assists, M. Corneil with one assist. D. Burkland also scored one goal. Other assists were credited to J. Edelmann and G. Juergensen.

The good sportsmanship on both sides, with both Kitimat and Terrace teams exhibiting good, fast, "old fashioned" hockey, lots of hard hitting and good playing brought cheers from the spectators throughout the Exhibition game.

Best T.V. Sports Show

"The best sports presentation on TV in either the U.S. or Canada", that's how a leading American sportswriter recently described CBC-TV's "HOCKEY NIGHT IN CANADA". Joe Falls of the Detroit News, writing in the Sept. 17th issue of baseball's bible, the Sporting News, as lavish in his praise for HOCKEY NIGHT IN CANADA.

"They are prepared and informative and they bring you all the color and excitement of the event without changing the event itself. The broadcaster never becomes bigger than the actual event... and this comes across almost as a revelation once you are accustomed to U.S. sportscasting methods." Joe Falls goes on to call Dick Irvin his favorite sportscaster because "he is bright, alert, witty yet blends in with the action. He allows the picture and the players to tell the story and that, after all,

is still the essence of sports."

"Irvin works with Danny Gallivan, who may be the best play-by-play man in any sport, and the nice thing is that they never get in each other's way."

"In fairness", Falls continues "the hockey announcers in Toronto are just as good. Bill Hewitt, son of the great Foster Hewitt, the pioneer of hockey broadcasters, is every bit as good as Gallivan in calling the plays and his between periods analysts, notably the erithasid H Meeker, the old Maple Leaf, bring a special spice to every telecast."

"HOCKEY NIGHT IN CANADA is never better than when they are trying to entertain you between periods", opines Mr. Falls.

He's impressed with the work behind the cameras as well as in front of them. He said U.S. telecasters have tried to copy the style of broadcasting, "including the great camera work which is done by cameramen who understand this unique game. Hockey's a game of ebb and flow, rising and falling action, sudden and swift moves, and they capture it all."

In conclusion, Falls, knowing he's writing for a huge U.S. audience not familiar with HOCKEY NIGHT IN CANADA telecasts, writes: "I wish I could invite you all to my home in Detroit to sit in the darkness of my family room, with a beer and cigar in hand, and watch them sweep up and down the ice to the almost symphonic-loke strains of Danny Gallivan and Dick Irvin or Bill Hewitt and Howie Meeker."

The entire Falls article is high praise indeed for Canada's foremost sports institution from one of America's most experienced and respected sportswriters.

Winnipeg Bombers appoint coach

By JOHN KOROBANIK WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers announced on Monday the appointment of Ray Jauch as head coach of the Western Football Conference club.

Jauch was manager of football operations for Edmonton Eskimos last season after seven years as the team's head coach. During his coaching days, Eskimos made the playoffs six times, appeared in the Grey Cup three times and won the cup in 1975.

Jauch, a former Bomber player, signed a three-year contract. He replaces Bud Riley who was dropped by the Bombers at the end of the season last month.

Jauch was one of several candidates but Bomber general manager Earl Lunsford said that when Jauch's interest in the job was confirmed, "everybody else became secondary."

"There were some interesting names that came forth but when Ray indicated he was interested in getting back into coaching, it narrowed my focus in a hurry," Lunsford told a news conference. "It was one of the easiest decisions I've had to make in selecting a coach."

IMPRESSIVE RECORD Jauch comes to the Bombers with an impressive coaching record backed by his familiarity with Winnipeg and the organization.

Jauch's brief professional play career was in Winnipeg in 1960 and 1961 but it ended prematurely when he tore an achilles tendon in the 1961 Grey Cup game. He turned immediately to coaching, beginning with juniors, then college and on to assistant in Edmonton before taking the head coaching job in 1970.

He decided to leave coaching after the 1976 season and the Eskimos made him manager of their operations. Jauch admitted that while he was pleased to have the chance to get involved with the management end of the game, he couldn't rid himself of the desire to coach.

MISSED COACHING "I took a look at another side of football which I had wanted to do... but I felt I'm still only 39 and I wanted to get back into coaching, I missed it some."

"I feel that in 12 years in Edmonton we accomplished an awful lot and it was an enjoyable time. But coming back here in a great opportunity and a new challenge."

Jauch takes over a club that finished in a three-way tie for first place in the West last season and lost the semi-final game by a single point.

The decision not to renew Riley's contract was made almost immediately after the semi-final.

Club president Earle Heibert said at that time management felt the Bombers were the best team in Canada and belonged in the Grey Cup game.

But Jauch said he sees no pressure stepping into the job.

"This particular position isn't any different than anything else. We're going to start back from square one. I'm not going to be satisfied until we accomplish what we set out to do... whether it takes a year or two or three, it doesn't make any difference to me."

Jauch said no decision has yet been made on assistant coaches.

Dorset drops goal

DALLAS (AP) — Tony Dorsett has had to drop his goal from 1,500 yards to 1,000 yards in his rookie season in the National Football League, but the flashy Heisman Trophy winner still hopes to play in the Super Bowl.

Dorsett, after being on a championship team at the University of Pittsburgh last season, has become the most explosive back the Dallas Cowboys have ever owned.

On Sunday he posted the third most prolific day by a rookie running back in NFL history, gaining 206 yards in a National Conference Eastern Division 24-14 victory over Philadelphia Eagles.

"If I do get 1,000 yards, fine and well," said U.S. college football's leading all-time ground gainer. "If I don't and we are winning, I can't complain."

Dorsett needs just 165 yards in Dallas' final regular season games against San Francisco 49ers and Denver Broncos to reach the 1,000-yard figure.

Dallas is assured at least a first-round playoff berth Dec. 26 in Texas

Stadium. Dorsett says the Cowboys offensive line is the key to how well they do in the playoffs, and to whether he can maintain his 5.6-yards-a-carry average.

"If my linemen want me to get it, (the 1,000 yards) we can," said Dorsett. "I think I've finally found a home in the Dallas offense. I feel comfortable out there."

Jago quits

LONDON (AP) Gordon Jago, manager of Millwall of English League soccer's Second Division, quit today to become manager of Tampa Bay Rowdies in the North American Soccer League.

The 45-year-old Jago, one of the best known club managers in English soccer, is reported to have accepted an offer of about $36,000 from the Florida club.

Jago was coach of Baltimore Bays between 1968 and 1970. Two years ago he turned down an offer to become U.S. national team manager and director of coaching.

Driver won't retire

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jim McElreath, whose son James was killed in a crash during a race at the Winchester Speedway in October, says he has no intention of retiring as a driver.

"At first, I didn't think I wanted to drive anymore," said the veteran of 12 Indianapolis 500s and 15 years in the U.S. Auto Club. "But now I want to more than I have the last two or three years."

"Mentally, I'm still a wreck and I know I'll never be the same without James. But physically, I feel great and driving a race car is still what I want to do the most."

McElreath was in Indianapolis during the weekend to pick up the rest of his racing equipment and take it back to Arlington, Tex.

USAC, meanwhile is getting ready for the 1978 season and, for the first time, there will be a woman inspector on Frank DelRoy's technical committee.

She is Ann Taylor, 36, who is employed in engineering with Chrysler Corp.'s electronics division in Huntsville, Ala., and is no stranger to the technical side of auto racing.

BROKE THE ICE Janet Guthrie broke the ice for women at the Indianapolis Moto Speedway on the track. Now, Taylor will do the same in the garage area at Indianapolis and at other national championship events around the United States.

Inspection this coming season will be more comprehensive and it will be repeated more than once during the year.

Suspension components, DelRoy said, suffered some breakage during the 1977 season on the Lightning chassis due to design failure. The load factor was too much for the components and they were cracking at the lower gear, he said.

Probably the greatest increase in USAC activity will deal with the mini-Indy division. There will be 11 races next year, 10 on oval tracks and one on a road course at Mosport, Ont.

The cars in this operation are Super Vee open-wheeled single seaters built around highly modified Volkswagen components.

Each event will be for 100 kilometres and will have a purse of $12,000 plus contingency money and a point fund.

SCARCE SIGNED BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota Twins announced Tuesday they have signed as a free agent left-handed relief pitcher Mac Scarce, 28, pitched with Indianapolis of the American Association and Tampa of the Southern League during the 1977 baseball season. He had a 1-3 won-lost record with Indianapolis and a 4.05 earned run average, and with Tampa was 1-0 with a 4.05 ERA. The American League Twins assigned him to Toledo of the International League.

Sports History

HAMILTON Tigers, fielding one of Eastern Canada's most powerful football teams in years, punched out a 23-3 victory over Sarnia Imperials 42 years ago — in 1935 — for the Eastern Canadian championship at Toronto. Winnipeg later took the Grey Cup west for the first time with a decisive 18-12 victory over the Bengals.

Georges Vezina, still thought by many old-timers to be the greatest goalie of all time, played his last hockey game 52 years ago — in 1925 — for Montreal Canadiens. He was forced to retire after the first period with sharp pains in his side and a temperature of 102 F. Vezina died of tuberculosis March 28, 1926.

Larry O'Connor was awarded the Norton H. Crowe Memorial trophy 38 years ago — in 1939 — after being named the outstanding Canadian amateur athlete of the year. O'Connor, a Toronto hurdler and sprinter, was a member of the Canadian Olympic team of 1936 and the British Empire Games team two years later.

Record breaking flight

VANCOUVER (CP) — David Shore, one of two Vancouver men who broke the record for an around-the-world flight on commercial airlines last week, said Sunday the only effect from the trip was a loss of balance when he tried to walk.

Shore and Roger Matheson, passenger agents here with CP Air, left Los Angeles Thursday, and after stops at Frankfurt, Singapore and Sydney, Australia, returned Saturday to Los Angeles 63 hours and eight minutes later. That broke the previous record by two hours and 50 minutes.

"We couldn't walk properly," Shore said. "When we took a step the feet would go out from under us like there was no gravity. But that is all gone today."

Shore said they flew Lufthansa on the first two legs of the trip in spite of threats of reprisals against the German airline by terrorists.

"I was concerned but didn't want to chicken out because of a few terrorists," he said. "Armed guards entered the plane at Amsterdam and the terminal at Frankfurt was crawling with guards."

Shore said the two stopped for nine hours in Sydney to take a bath and get some sleep. He said that when that time is eliminated, they hope to have the record certified by the Guinness Book of World Records.

The world trip cost the men $90 each, because they got reduced rates as airline employees.

New Mini Loader

GRIMSBY, Ontario - A Canadian company has introduced a new sub-compact skid-steer loader designed to slip through 36 inch wide doors and do "pitchfork and shovel" jobs in tight quarters. Its operating capacity is 550 pounds, and lift height is 97 1/2 inches.

The new John Deere 60 Skid-Steer Loader offers such traditional skid-steer loader benefits as spot-turn maneuverability, 4 wheel-drive, and fast cycle time. In addition, its compact size permits transport in a half-ton pickup truck.

Hydrostatic drive on the 60 provides simple control with quick response for maximum productivity.

For the operator's safety, a Roll-Over Protective Structure (ROPS), complete with canopy and side screens, is provided as standard equipment.

The 60 Skid-Steer Loader is powered by a 14 hp gasoline engine. A 15 Imperial gallon hydraulic reservoir provides enough capacity for all functions to operate simultaneously.

Three buckets and two forks are available for work with the 60 Skid-Steer Loader.

New John Deere Model 60 Skid-Steer Loader is less than one yard wide for working in tight quarters.

Colleen Peterson

Written for CP By ANN PRINCE TORONTO (CP) — When Colleen Peterson was named by RPM magazine as the most promising female vocalist of 1968, Anne Murray was ranked second.

In the intervening years, the Nova Scotian singer has established herself solidly while Miss Peterson's career has come full circle with the 1977 RPM poll, which again lists her as the most promising vocalist.

This time, she said during a recent Toronto visit, she is ready to start fulfilling that promise.

Her musical involvement began when she bought her first guitar with trading stamps at age 13. A few years later she quit school in Ottawa to get together with folksingers Bruce Cockburn and David Wiffen and caught RPM's eye shortly before the trio split up.

Wiffen and Cockburn went on to pursue solo careers while Miss Peterson, still only 18, went to New York and joined a rock group, Taking Care of Business. From there, she moved to Toronto for a role in the rock opera Hair.

After that, "I was all over the place, making good in many small places, but I was still looking for one direction to pursue." A problem with her voice forced her to take a break and she drifted to the southern United States, writing and watching the scene. "Somebody in Carolina talked me into going to Nashville to check out the scene there, although at that point I still wasn't really into the country thing," she said. "It was in Nashville that I finally learned to relax."

Two or three years ago, Anne Murray chose one of her songs, Carolina Sun, for inclusion in an album and things began to look up.

"It's always a great compliment to have someone record something you've written and at that time attention to my songs was the break I needed," she said.

AD-LIBS DIFFICULT Modesty remains a striking component of Miss Peterson's personality, even on stage, where she still has difficulty with the patter between songs. It almost "interrupts" her confidence.

"You're just hoping that the band and yourself are working together and really it's the playing that is the test of the tightness of the organization."

Backed by a new band, Short Change, she passed the test to the satisfaction of Toronto critics and audiences at the Horseshoe Tavern, where she featured songs from an album she recorded in California last summer.

A song that won particular favor was Delaney, which took her three years to write.

"For the longest time, all I had was this chorus, until one night on a tour of Western Canada where the Indian problem was so sadly evident, the words just came and there I was three in the morning, scribbling madly."

Ballard Upset

By GLENN COLE MONTREAL (CP) — Last month, Harold Ballard, blustery owner of Toronto Maple Leafs, said he was upset that John Ziegler, president of the National Hockey League, was in the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia negotiating an international hockey series.

Ballard indicated at the time that he was not interested in having any of the international games at Maple Leaf Gardens, but when the 13-game series is played Dec. 26-Jan. 8, Ballard's Leafs will be involved. The NHL announced Tuesday that Spartak, a first-division team from the Soviet Union, will be part of the series along with two first-division sides from Czechoslovakia—Pardubice and Kladno.

The Leafs will be playing host to Pardubice Jan. 2 after the Czech team plays the Flyers at Philadelphia Dec. 26 and in Bloomington, Minn., against Minnesota North Stars Dec. 28. Pardubice will close out its part of the tour Jan. 4 with a game against New York Islanders at Uniondale, N.Y.

MEET RANGERS

Kladno will meet the Rangers at New York Dec. 28 before visiting Chicago Black Hawks five nights later. Detroit Red Wings play host to Kladno Jan. 2 and then Kladno will go to Richfield, Ohio for a game against Cleveland Barons two nights later.

Spartak will meet Vancouver Canucks Dec. 28 before going to Denver for a matchup against Colorado Rockies set for Jan. 3.

St. Louis Blues will entertain the Soviet club Jan. 5 and one night later, Montreal Canadiens will tackle Spartak. The Soviets close out their tour Jan. 8 in Atlanta against the Flames.

In 1975-76, the NHL took part in an international series with Wings of the Soviet and the Soviet Red Army each playing four games against NHL opposition.

Kladno, Pardubice and Spartak will be allowed to add players to their teams for the series but no indication has been given on how many they will be add.

Ziegler said Tuesday night that the Soviet Union will send one official to work in the series while the Czechoslovakian officials will not be used in their portion of the series.

Oddities

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The jury hadn't even heard the case, but it was locked up anyway.

Superior Judge William Goodloe recessed a trial for attempted murder and ordered prospective jurors locked in the jury room for a few minutes until the courtroom cleared.

Nearly an hour and a half later, Goodloe stopped in the courtroom to inspect its newly waxed floors. He heard noises coming from the jury room, unlocked the door and found a puzzled group of men and women.

SILVER CITY, N.M. (AP) — The local animal humane society takes in only dogs and cats, so Detective Ron Hall has taken home a burro police found wandering through the downtown area earlier this week.

Officers are trying to locate the owner of the animal, described as "very well cared for and very gentle," by Police Chief Thomas Ryan.

"It has to belong to somebody," he said.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some might call it horseplay. Others might say it was rustling. But Michael Afanador, 25, has been charged with theft of city property and criminal mischief for allegedly taking a ride on a police mount.

Officer Leroy Patterson said he tied up his horse, Melba Quazar, outside a restaurant Tuesday, went in for a cup of coffee and came back out just as Afanador was riding off.

"I couldn't believe my eyes," Patterson said. He called to the horse by name, and it stopped.

"I used a tone that would have scared the horse to death," Patterson said. "Then I ran up and snatched the guy off the horse."

"OK, December 4 is the day. Tell me again how Unemployment Insurance qualifications are changing."

New legislation has changed some of the ground rules of our UI program.

Parliament has decided that people who live in areas of high unemployment will be given certain advantages over those who live where jobs are more plentiful.

Which means that, as of December 4, you'll need more insurable work weeks to qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits.

Right again.

In regions of low unemployment, claimants will need up to 14 weeks of insurable employment to get UI benefits. This will only happen in places where it's easier to get and keep a job.

In regions of high unemployment, claimants will need as little as 10 weeks to qualify.

But until December 4, the entrance requirement remains at eight weeks wherever you live.

"How about the two week waiting period?"

No change. The basic two week waiting period remains the same everywhere.

And so do the rules on the waiting period when a claimant has left his or her job for no good reason or been fired for misconduct. In such cases, a claimant may have to wait up to eight weeks from when employment ends until benefits start.

"Has the amount of the benefits changed?"

Absolutely not. The UI benefit rate stays at two-thirds of your average weekly insurable earnings.

The maximum is $147, less tax.

"Anything else I should know?"

The maximum time for which anyone may receive benefits has changed slightly. The old maximum was 51 weeks. Now it's 50 weeks.

But since September 11, the total number of weeks for which a claimant qualifies has more closely reflected the unemployment rate in his or her region.

Right now, we measure unemployment by dividing Canada into 16 economic regions. Later, in 1978, we will fine-tune the program to 54 regions so that UI will be even more closely related to the local labour market conditions.

Also, there's maternity, sickness and age 65 benefits.

Previously, sickness benefits were only payable during the first 39 weeks of the claim. Now they are payable at any time during the entire benefit period.

Maternity benefits of 15 weeks and the special one-time benefit (equal to three weeks' benefits) at age 65 remains the same.

The same people still pay for the program in the same proportions, and the types of employment insurable for UI remain the same, too.

And, as explained in the box below, you still go to the familiar locations for both UI offices and Canada Manpower Centres. Watch for changes in your area.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Department of Manpower and Immigration have become the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission. For a time, you'll still see our local offices identified as Unemployment Insurance offices or Canada Manpower Centres. When they're together in one location, they'll be called Canada Employment Centres.

Wants a Child, Not a Husband

By Abigail Van Buren

1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old, unmarried, God-fearing Christian woman who wants more than anything in the world to have a child. I am a virgin and want to stay that way.

Why can't I have an artificial insemination? Or do you have to be married for that?

I may never get married. I had a boyfriend once, who was five years younger than I, also a virgin. But we broke up when I told him about this overwhelming desire I had for motherhood.

I don't want to sin, Abby, but if I don't have a baby I don't want to go on living. I can hardly see a baby without wanting to kidnap it.

I told my gynecologist this, and she said it was natural for a woman to yearn for motherhood, but she didn't recommend artificial insemination unless I was married. Well, if I were married I probably wouldn't need it. I don't especially want a husband. I just want to be a mother. Can you help me?

WANTS A BABY

DEAR WANTS: Laws on artificial insemination vary among the states. I suggest you seek the counsel of a lawyer, and a talk with your clergyman wouldn't hurt either.

DEAR ABBY: How should a 21-year-old girl who is separated but not divorced conduct herself? I have a small son, and I want to keep my reputation flawless for his sake as well as my own.

I come from a small town and I'm not sure I know what is considered acceptable conduct for a girl in my position.

Should I go on overnight trips with a man I'm dating even if everything is on the up-and-up and we each have our own motel room?

Please help me get my head straight on this. I know how to keep my conscience clear, it's my reputation I'm worried about.

NEEDS ANSWERS

DEAR NEEDS: If you want a flawless reputation, even though your conscience is clear, avoid the appearance of evil. And "overnight trips" with a man you're dating are a no-no.

DEAR ABBY: I come from a family that is not in the habit of kissing all the time. We kiss goodbye for long trips, or for important occasions—weddings, graduations, etc. But that is all.

I married into a family that kisses each other every time one of them comes into a room.

I once remarked that I wasn't accustomed to so much kissing, and I hoped they didn't think me unfriendly or cold if I didn't kiss as much as they did, but apparently no one took me seriously.

When I enter a room and don't go around kissing the clan, they kiss ME! A light kiss on the cheek wouldn't kill me, but some of these people grab me and kiss me on the lips.

I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings, Abby, but I have had it up to here with all those wet kisses.

How can I put a stop to it? (I've fibbed and said I had a cold, but that didn't stop them.)

NO KISSER

DEAR NO: Since this kissing issue is important to you, why not gather your courage and TELL them that you like them, but you're not the kissing kind. You're apt to be kissed off by a few, but would you really care?

DEAR ABBY: Please tell DOG TIRED, whose neighbor's dog barked at night, that we solved that problem by doing the following: Turning our garden hose on the barking dog. The water won't hurt him, but it certainly does shut him up.

SILENT NIGHT

If you feel left out and lonely, or wish you knew how to get people to like you, my new booklet, "How To Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old," is for you. Send $1 along with a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

MAKE IT SPICY!

As a salad or dessert, Spiced Jellied Peaches are the perfect complement to a busy-day dinner. The delicately spiced peaches enhance the fresh fruity flavor of Jell-O orange or peach gelatin. Serve individual salads on a bed of lettuce for a colorful partner to your favorite casserole or one-dish entree.

SPICED JELLIED PEACHES

- 1 can (17 oz.) sliced peaches
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 12 whole cloves
- 1 cinnamon stick
- 1 package (3 oz.) orange or peach flavor gelatin

Drain peaches, measuring syrup. Add water to syrup to make 1-3/4 cups. Dice the peaches. Combine measured liquid, vinegar and spices in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Strain, discarding spices. Dissolve gelatin in hot liquid. Chill until slightly thickened. Stir in peaches and pour into individual molds. Chill until firm, about 3 hours. Unmold. Serve on crisp lettuce, if desired. Makes 2-3/4 cups or 5 or 6 servings.

Apple Pie: A Personal Matter

What constitutes a perfect apple pie? Most epicures will agree that it should sing with natural apple flavor. The variety of apples used in a pie is a matter of personal choice, but more and more cooks are combining two or three varieties in a single pie for texture and flavor contrast. Good choices grown in the East and Midwest include: R. I. Greening, Northern Spy, Stayman, McIntosh, Jonathan, York Imperial, Golden Delicious, Rome Beauty and Cortland. Out West, Gravenstein, Newton Pippin, Rome Beauty, Golden Delicious and Winesap are among the favorites.

A fine apple pie hardly needs embellishment. But a lot of folks believe that "apple pie without cheese is like a kiss without a squeeze." Others feel that ice cream served alongside, not on top, a piece of pie adds the proper finishing touch. If you're looking for something different, serve a cider sauce flavored with apple brandy or a custard sauce flavored with rum. And there's always whipped cream, sweetened with orange or ginger marmalade, topped with toasted pecans.

News briefs

TORONTO (CP) — Maryon Kantaroff, Toronto sculptor, has received the Outstanding Adventurer Award for 1977 from the Zonta Club of Toronto. The presentation coincided with the club's 50th birthday celebration. The club comprises outstanding professional women in cities around the world.

KIDNAP STUDENT SARONNO, Italy (Reuters) — Four masked gunmen on Tuesday abducted 19-year-old student Antonio Parmo, whose industrialist father owns a factory near this northern Italian town, police said. It was the second kidnapping in 24 hours in northern Italy and the 71st recorded in the country this year.

LAWYERS UNQUALIFIED LONDON (AP) — About one-half of America's practising lawyers are not adequately qualified to represent their clients, U.S. Chief Justice Warren Burger has told a British commission. Burger said he asked American state and federal court judges about lawyers who appear before them, and found "the most pessimistic view was that only 25 per cent of the lawyers appearing in our courts were really qualified to represent their clients properly ...."

ZILL VISIT MOSCOW BONN (Reuters) — Willy Brandt, chairman of West Germany's ruling Social Democratic party, plans to visit Moscow next month for talks with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev, party sources said Tuesday. Brandt is leaving for Tokyo on Dec. 14 for a meeting of the Socialist International, of which he is chairman. Sources said he will go via Moscow.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) ♈

Aim for a swift completion of outstanding matters. Confer with knowledgeable heads; don't wait until you hit a snag. Use care in estimating values.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) ♉

You should enjoy a lively feeling of usefulness and forward propulsion now. Keep eyes on target and don't be sidetracked by your disadvantage.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) ♊

Study reasons for existing limitations. Concentrate on significant issues without neglecting minor items. A good day for taking unusual steps.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) ♋

Not everything may go as you wish, but use your tremendous will power to keep going. With your know-how, you should be able to hold the line.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) ♌

Don't underestimate your creative abilities. Take advantage of promising aspects to perform in a stimulating manner, belittling your innate talents.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) ♍

A good day, with more than one means of accomplishment indicated. Capitalize on your talents, but remain tactful, cognizant of others' sensitivities.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) ♎

Keep things moving, and with well-planned design. A "wait and see" attitude could only stifle enthusiasm on this somewhat problematic day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) ♏

Let your instincts guide you now since your chances of attaining goals are excellent. Imagination and a little daring could pay off handsomely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) ♐

Patience will be needed in a few tricky spots but day, on the whole, has a big potential. Avoid haste, undue anxiety. You CAN deliver the goods.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) ♑

Searching for offbeat avenues toward achievement could lead you astray now. Do the best you can in your own field and gains will be yours.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) ♒

Tackle that difficult job you've been postponing, and your anxieties will vanish. Facing a problem head-on is half its solution.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) ♓

Superiors should be receptive to your ideas now. Advance your best ones — but tactfully, of course. Romance and travel favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are a natural leader of men and, with your fine executive ability and gift for organization, could head a large corporation or any group which calls for direction and management on the grand scale. You also have a gift for words and would make an excellent journalist, editor or publisher; may also write brilliantly as a novelist or, in whimsical mood, turn out delightful poetry. The law would also be a fertile field for your talents and could lead, eventually, to the areas of statesmanship or diplomacy. On the personal side, you have a gregarious nature, love sports and are generous, almost to a fault. Birthdate of: Allan Cunningham, Scottish author; Heywood Brown, journalist; Eli Wallach, actor.

Marsh World

MUDPUDDY (Necturus maculosus) — Eight to twelve inches in length, this salamander spends its entire life in water. It is grey to brown in color with dark spots; the three pairs of frilled gills are red. Mudpuppies are found in the mud bottoms of lakes, ponds or marshes. Their food consists of insects, crayfish, mollusks, frogs and fish eggs. They are nocturnal feeders. Females lay upwards of 100 eggs which are anchored by stalks to the underside of rocks. The young hatch in about eight weeks and require five years to reach maturity.
